134 Officers gave the Ultimate Sacrifice in 2008

It seems just like yesterday I was writing another May E-Focus and was outlining the tragedies of the previous year. In the time that has passed, we have lost one hundred and thirty four heroes in the line of duty in this great country.

September was the deadliest month for law enforcement officers with nineteen officers killed.

Texas was the unfortunate leader in deaths with 14, followed closely by California by 13.

Gunfire outpaced vehicle accidents as the leading cause of death, 38 to 36. 12 were struck by vehicles accidentally, 11 were the victim of vehicular assaults and 9 were in motorcycle accidents.

By comparing numbers through April of 2008 to April of 2009, the number of law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty has RISEN 18 PERCENT!

The number of officers killed in the line of duty over the years is as follows:

2008—134

2007—181

2006—151

2005—164

2004—164

2003—147

2002—159

2001—242

2000—163

Total this decade = 1505

US Supreme Court decides search case

In April 2009, the United States Supreme Court decided in Gant v. Arizona the following:

Once an arrestee is secured, a search incident to arrest of the involved motor vehicle is lawful only when there is reason to believe that the vehicle holds evidence of the underlying crime on which the arrest is based. Gant does NOT foreclose other search doctrines that may apply to particular cases. Fourth Amendment warrant clause exceptions of consent, probation/parole search, exigent circumstances, vehicle “frisk” for weapons upon appropriate reasonable suspicion, inventory and community caretaking all continue to potentially apply.

Search of a vehicle incident to arrest is allowed only if the arrestee is within reaching distance of the passenger compartment at the time of the search or it is reasonable to believe that the vehicle contains evidence of the offense at the time of the arrest. For example: If you arrest someone for OMVI, you may be able to look in the car for empty liquor bottles but if you find stolen property...that may not be admissible in court.

The 1969 case of Chimel vs. California says search incident to arrest can be justified by the suspect's ability to lunge into an area and destroy evidence or reach a weapon. This is still good law, however...once a suspect is handcuffed and moved away from a vehicle, they no longer have the ability to lunge into that vehicle.

There is some concern in law enforcement circles that officers may jeopardize safety in order to search a vehicle. If an officer decides to leave a suspect un-handcuffed and near a car, just so they could then search the vehicle...they have placed themselves into a great risk.

I believe that if existing exceptions are available, that our jobs have not been significantly impacted by this decision. Please remember that no lost evidence is worth you getting hurt.

You can register for the LE Torch Run Online

We now have the availability to register for LETR 09 on line, and also set up an on-line donations page that runners can email to family, friends and others to solicit donations on-line for the LETR. Please send this out to your departments, and anyone else that will be participating in the 09 LETR with us.

The 2009 online registration site is now active at this link: <http://sooh.kintera.org/letr09> Participants can register online and solicit donations via email blasts. They also will be able to access this through the website at www.soo.org.

Please make sure to let all of your folks know about the Final Leg from OSP (17th Street in Columbus) to the opening of the summer games at Ohio State. It is a 2.6 mile formation run with runners from all the separate legs, as well as the OSP Cadet class, and representatives of many state departments including the Attorney General of Ohio. The experience is one you will not forget. After the final leg enjoy the camaraderie of the LETR community at the Varsity Club.

FOP Motorcade took place May 5

The annual motorcade from the FOP of Ohio office in downtown Columbus (222 East Town Street) to the Ohio Peace Officer Memorial in London happened on May 5th.

The motorcade went around the Statehouse and eventually on I-70 to the Ohio Peace Officer Memorial. It arrives just prior to the official Ohio Peace Officer Memorial Ceremony.

We make quite an impact on the families and other guests who gather to pay their respects to those who have given the ultimate sacrifice.

Thank you to all departments that participated this year.

Many cities looking at red light cameras

In today's economic climate, many cities are looking at red light cameras to help balance the budget. Some FOP locals have opposed them and some have endorsed them.

However, you need to know that many cities will attempt to get the FOP to endorse the idea in hopes of new revenue for law enforcement but all they really do is cut your budget by an amount equal to that new revenue and use the savings in the general fund.

Many Agencies Hoping For Stimulus Money To Save Jobs!

It seems like every police department and sheriff's office in Ohio is hoping for the stimulus money to preserve jobs.

It is the hope of these agencies that the one time boost of revenue will be enough to get them through this economic crisis and things will return to normal and they will be able to afford the officers they have, and maybe even hire some more.

We really have a good case in trying to keep our staffing: crime appears to be rising in the face of this economic crisis, as was predicted. Also, heroin is making a huge comeback in our state and will soon rival crack cocaine addiction as our biggest drug problem. Last, our efforts to maintain the security of this country in the ongoing war on terror have not subsided.

These grants will turn out to be godsend for some agencies and a disappointment for those who do not get them.

It could even be worse next year. Many experts predict that the economic climate will begin to improve in 2009 but that our employers, local and state government, always are a year or two behind the leading economic indicators.

So, in 2010, we may be in Washington DC asking for another stimulus.

Politicians want concessions from you!

Every time I turn on the Columbus news or read a local paper, it seems that a politician is spouting off about concessions from the unions. While whether or not to take concessions is a local issue best answered by your individual circumstance, I always want to ask them how far they are cutting their own salary and benefits. You also want to ask them why they did not demand to open the contract and give you more money when things were going well for them. Last, you want to ask what other legal contracts they are going to reopen, such as how much they pay for streetlights.

The answers are they are coming to you first for any concessions!

UPDATE ON PERS/LE CONVERSION

In the last week I talked with Carolyn Drake at PERS. She and Karen Caraher, the Chief Financial Officer, contacted the OPERS actuaries (Gabriel, Roberts and Smith) for an update on the study for the PERS-LE conversion rates.

The actuaries are struggling with the formulas as there are many different variables and scenarios in which the conversion can be applied. In fact, the actuaries had requested additional information from OPERS and were also provided specific information from some of our members that have already expressed their desire to convert (their actual years of service within the various OPERS categories).

The OPERS expects to have the information from the actuary and start the programming (which will also be tedious) within the next two months. At that point it will be submitted to the OPERS Board for approval. It is possible that it could be submitted to the board for their June meeting. However, any items on the board agenda have to be submitted at least ten days in advance of the meeting. So, it is most likely that the OPERS Board will formally address the PERS-LE conversion issue at their July 15th meeting.

The next few meeting dates are May 20th, June 17th and July 15th.

2009 Take 25 campaign

On behalf of the National Fraternal Order of Police, we would like to remind you about the 2009 Take 25 campaign. Take 25 is a preventive child safety campaign that the National Legislative Office is promoting in partnership with the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC). Created in commemoration of National Missing Children's Day--May 25th--Take 25 encourages parents, guardians, law enforcement, and other concerned citizens to take 25 minutes to talk with their children about ways to stay safer.

This May marks the third year of the Take 25 campaign, and we encourage your lodge to become involved. Lodges can get involved in a number of ways--they can host child identification events, distribute Take 25 child safety materials, incorporate Take 25 into an existing community event, or hold safety presentations in local schools. In an effort to facilitate these events, Take 25 provides organizers with event planning guides and sample outreach materials.

All English and Spanish resources, including child ID kits, safety tips, and discussion guidelines are provided by NCMEC free of charge.

To find out more, or to register your lodge's event and request materials for distribution, please visit www.take25.org. For additional questions about how your lodge can become involved, please contact Maggie Starr at NCMEC by email: mstarr@ncmec.org or phone: 703-837-6123.

Do not forget FOP Travel site when booking for Long Beach

A few hundred of my closest friends will be traveling to the west coast this summer. The National Convention in Long Beach California will be held from August 16 through 20th. They will be staying in the Westin Hotel, that has already been decided for us. However, we may still have to pick flights and maybe even rental cars.

I am asking that you consider booking these through the FOP of Ohio website. At the bottom of the webpage, there is a link to our official travel service through YTB travel.

On May 1st, I found an economy rental cars for $287 per week on our site. The same car from the same company on Expedia was $320 per week.

Flights were $238 from each website, so why would you not choose the FOP site that pays the organization a royalty?

Furloughs are a hot topic

Furloughs are a hot topic in law enforcement labor circles. I have taken calls from other FOP's across the country wanting to know how we are fighting them here in the Buckeye State.

My answer is the same to all of them. There is no uniform answer. Any concessions, or no concessions, are best decided by the people directly affected.

The police in Toledo won an arbitration over furloughs. Furloughs are being discussed in Maryland, Florida, Oklahoma and other places.

Please examine all aspects of any concessions before accepting them.

Good Luck!

Member and Lodge of the Year Nominations Due

Do you know a member who goes above and beyond what is asked of him or her? Do you know a member who is there and a part of everything your lodge does? Every lodge has a go-to guy or gal, why not submit them for the FOP of Ohio member of the year? The same goes for the lodge of the year. Has your lodge done something to put itself above the others? I bet it has.

Please go to www.fopohio.org for the criteria and how to submit your nominations

Submit your nominations by May 22 for these awards!

Postal Inspector reaches out to local law enforcement

Did you know... - That the United States Postal Service has two law enforcement agencies? In addition to postal inspectors, the Postal Service also has a separate Office of Inspector General (OIG) with Special Agents that handle internal criminal investigations. To maintain the integrity and accountability of America's postal service, its revenue and assets, and its employees, Congress amended the 1978 Inspector General Act and created an independent Office of Inspector General for the Postal Service in 1996.

The USPS OIG employs more than 1,100 Special Agents, auditors, and professional support personnel in offices nationwide to achieve its mission of helping maintain confidence in the postal system and improving the Postal Service's bottom line. It's done by investigating fraud, waste, and employee crime, including theft of mail by Postal Service employees, and auditing postal programs to determine if they're efficient and cost-effective.

Criminal investigations by Special Agents of the USPS OIG cover a variety of offenses:

- Theft, Delay or Destruction of Mail by Employees and Contractors
- Injury Compensation Fraud
- Embezzlements and Financial Crimes
- Contract Fraud, including Kickbacks, Bribes and Gratuities
- Computer Crimes
- Narcotics distribution and possession
- Internal Affairs and Executive Investigations
- Whistleblower reprisals

OIG Special Agents work closely with state and local law enforcement officers and prosecutors on many of these cases. Investigations in Ohio are worked by OIG Special Agents from the Cleveland, Columbus, and Covington, KY offices. To learn more about the USPS OIG or to report criminal conduct by postal employees in your area, visit www.uspsoig.gov or contact Assistant Special Agent in Charge Scott Balfour at 216.912.2071.
